DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-6, 8-11 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,417,258 to Privas in view of US 5,938,076 to Ganzeboom.

Privas shows a device for spraying fluid as seen in Figs. 22 and 28, having a replaceable or refillable container 100 with a detachable dispensing head 1; The dispensing head encloses valve means 6, a valve actuating solenoid 13 with a metal armature 12, a battery 102 (as a power source), electronic device 101 to control the opening and closing of the valve. A valve cover has a first part 144 with a hook and a second part 104 with indentation where reader 146 mounts, both parts lock and cooperate with respect to each other; the first part has the hook 107 that can engage the indentation portion defined by element 106 to lock the cover to the container.

Privas is silent about the material use to make the valve cover. Ganzeboom shows a dispenser with a solenoid valve, as seen in Fig. 3, with a metal cover ring. It would have been obvious to a person with ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the device of Privas by including a metal cover to intensify the magnetic field that actuates the valve as taught by Ganzeboom, see column 4, lines 10-11.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed July 24, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, determining the structure, shape or size of a magnetic intensifier element is based on simple factors such as the locations of the magnetic coil with respect to the actuator or the voltage use to induce the magnetic field.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
